Sector Focus: Education

When this Public University moved to its new space in Charlotte, North Carolina, the University worked with Knoll and U.S. Communities to meet the unique layout and technology demands of each department with products that complemented each other. The University selected AutoStrada™ for its private offices, which supports evolving workplace needs with an innovative design and a consistent, universal aesthetic (cover). Additional offices feature Antenna® Workspaces, which combines a rigorous standard of functional simplicity with a pure, honest approach to materials, offering a dynamic workspace

The Dividends Horizon® open plan work areas feature upmounted glass, which delineates space and offers greater privacy while maintaining equal access to natural light in each workstation (right). Generation by Knoll® seating through the office facilitates changes in posture and position throughout the workday. Award-winning Sapper™ Monitor Arms in private offices and the open plan office support the changing demands of technology while helping to plan space efficiently.
